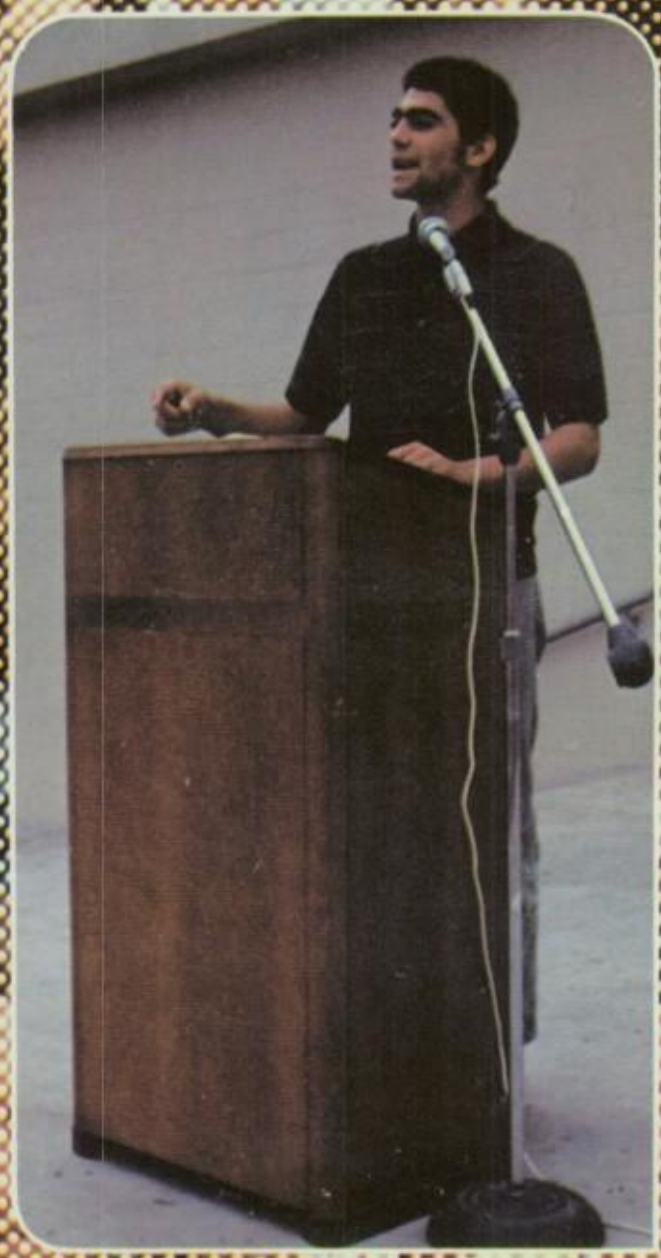
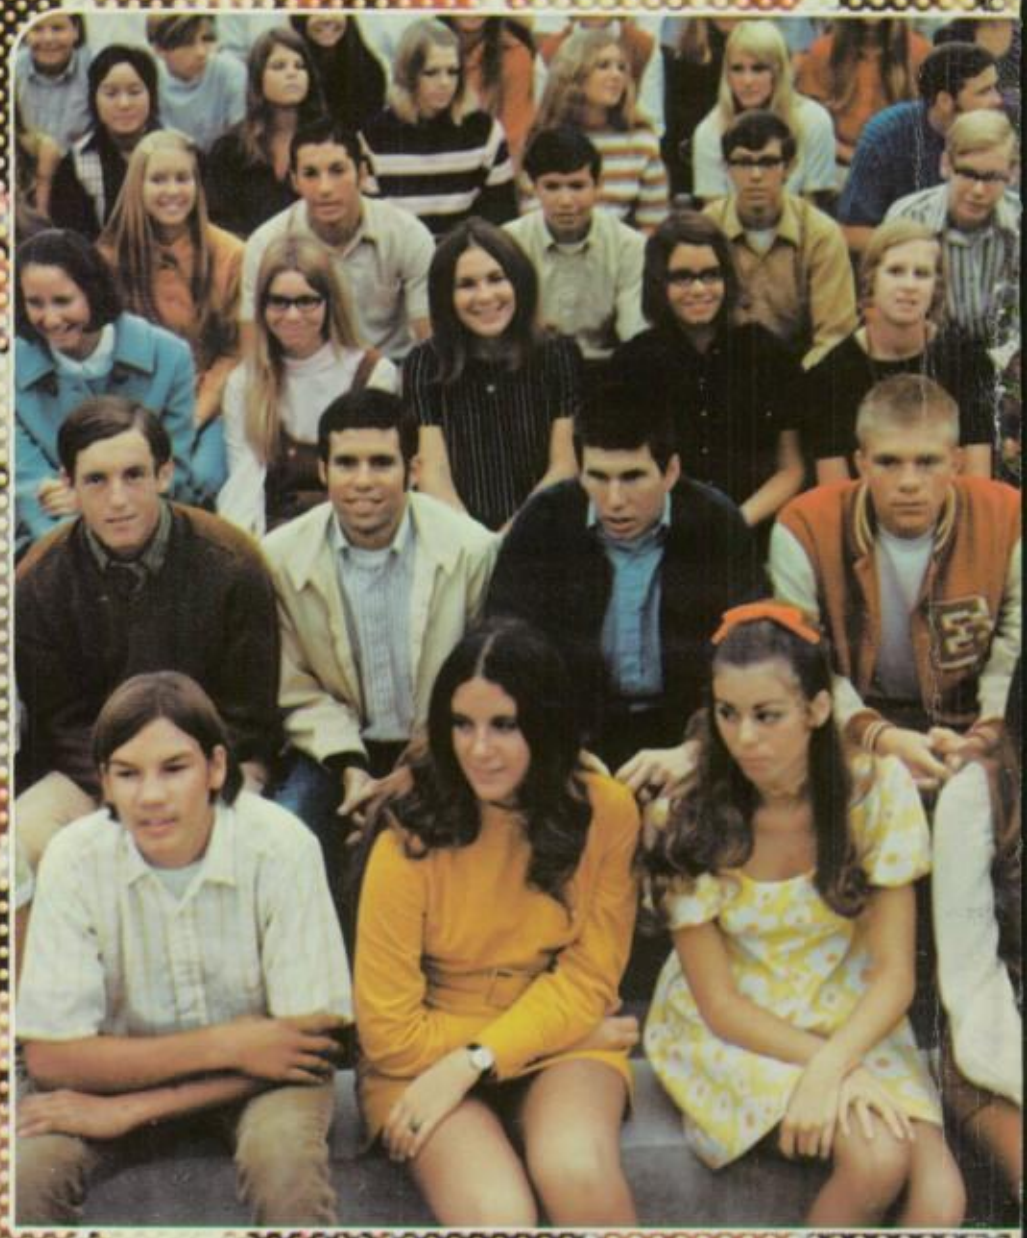
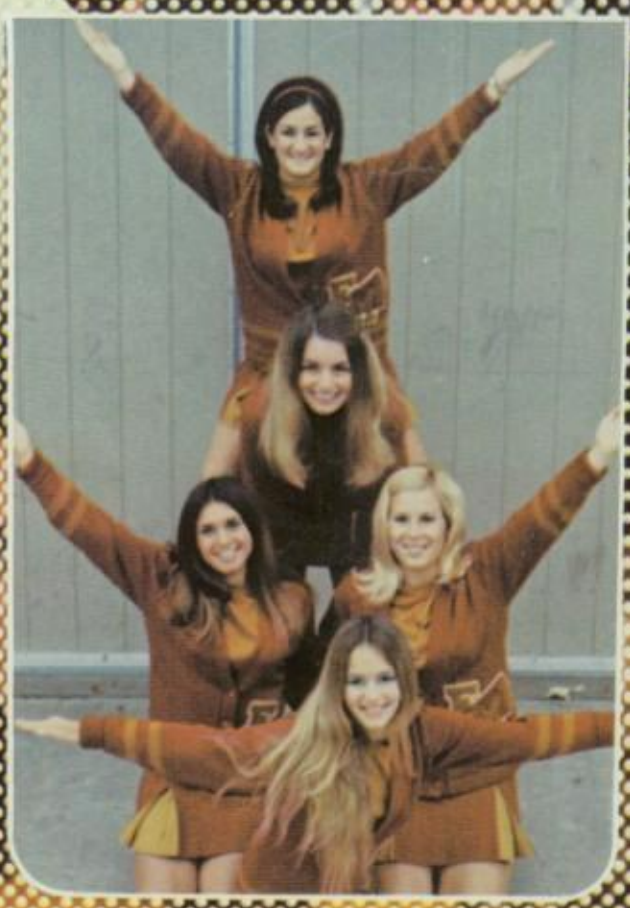
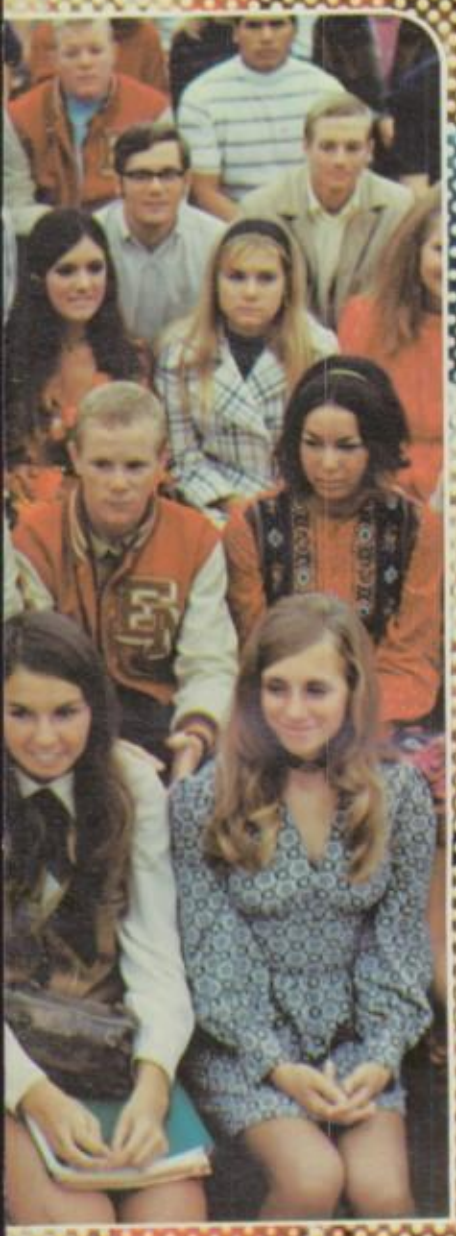
We Met in the Sunshine of September;





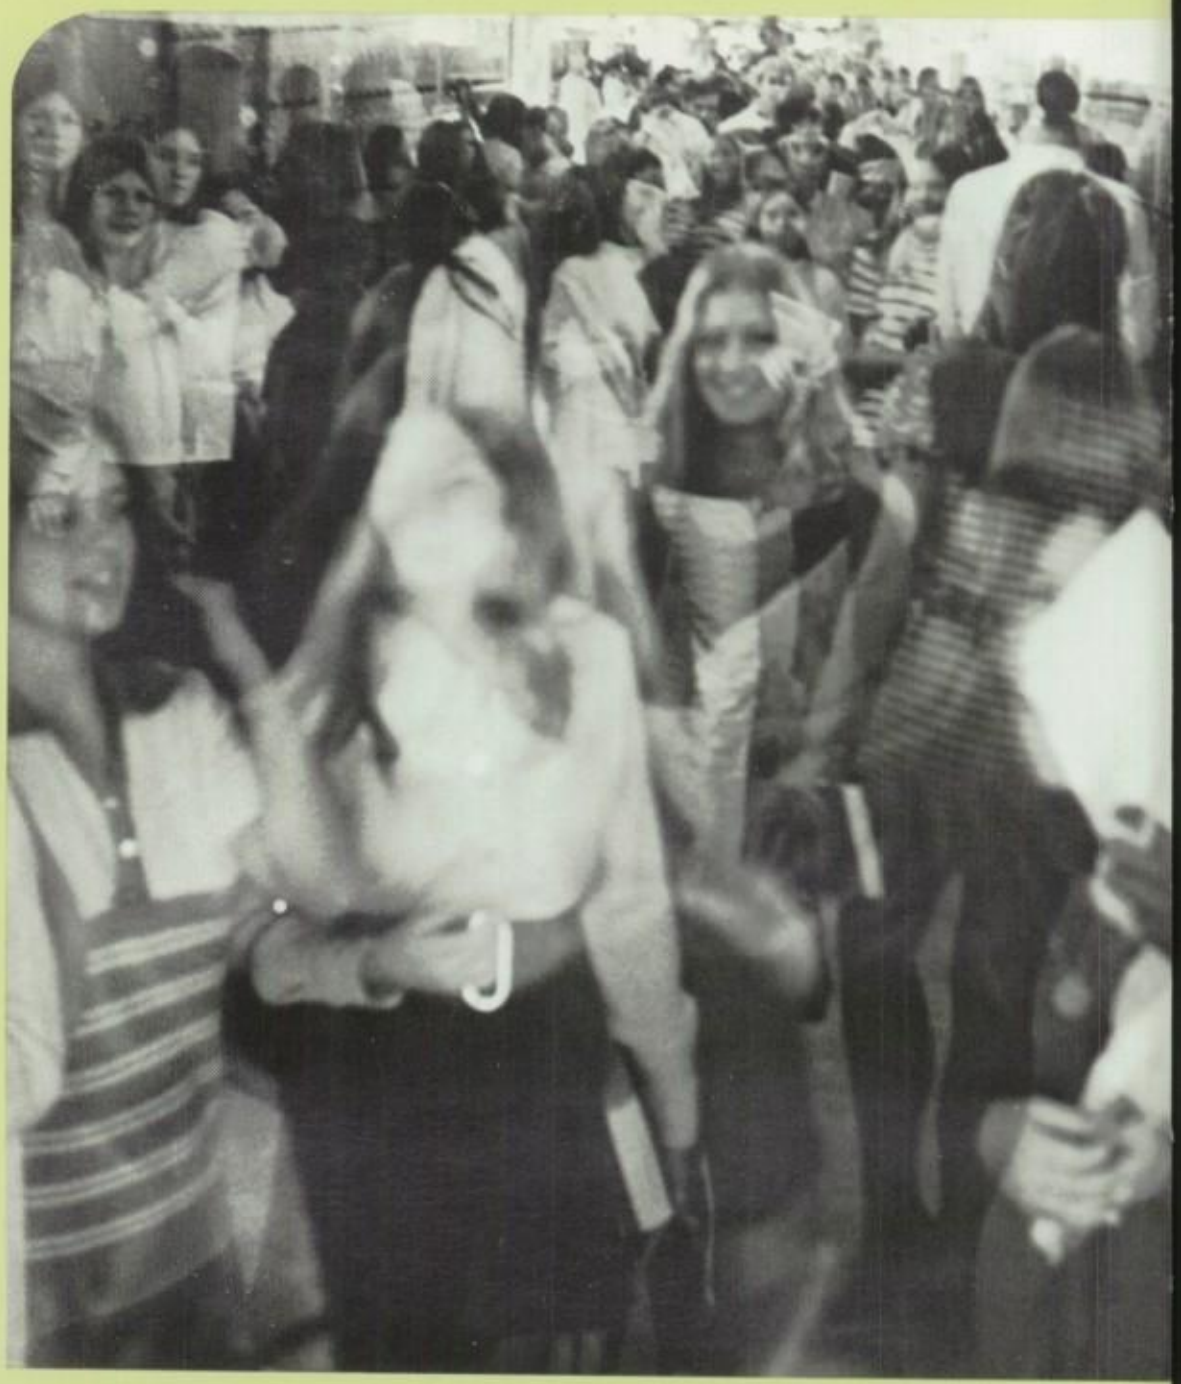


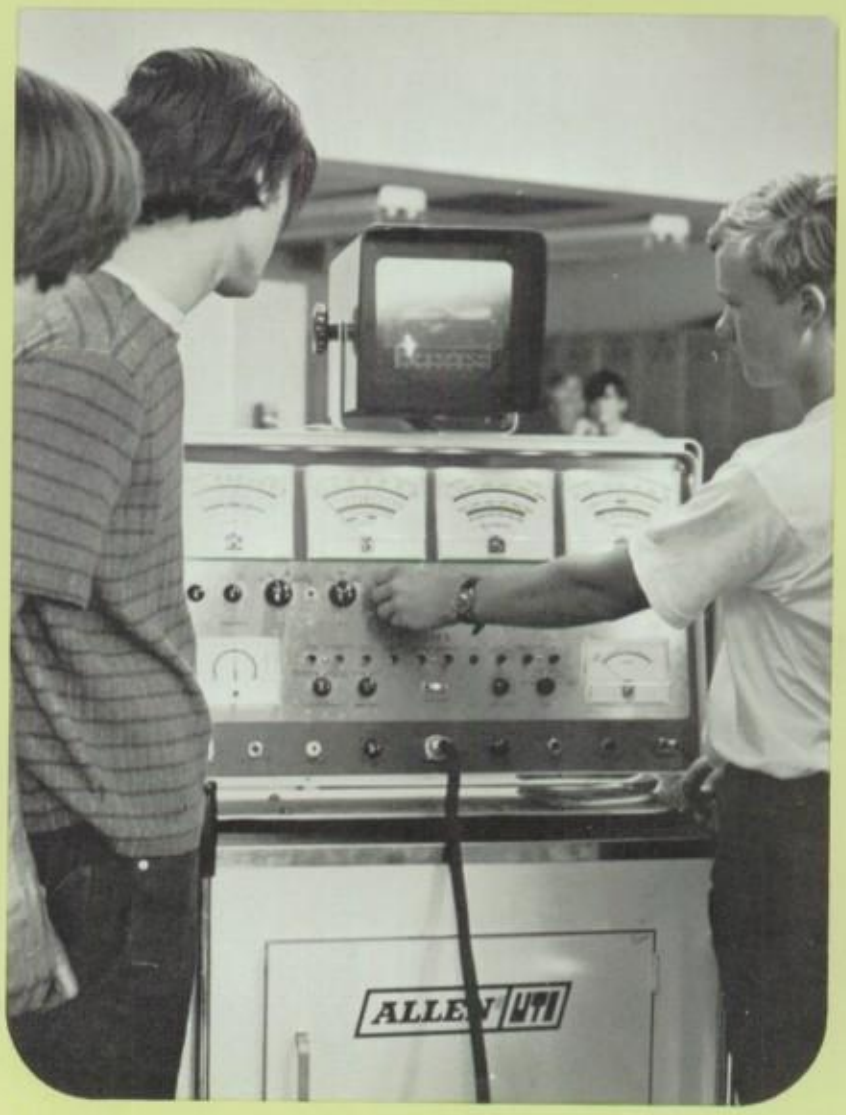
Vanguards Prepared to Begin a New Year



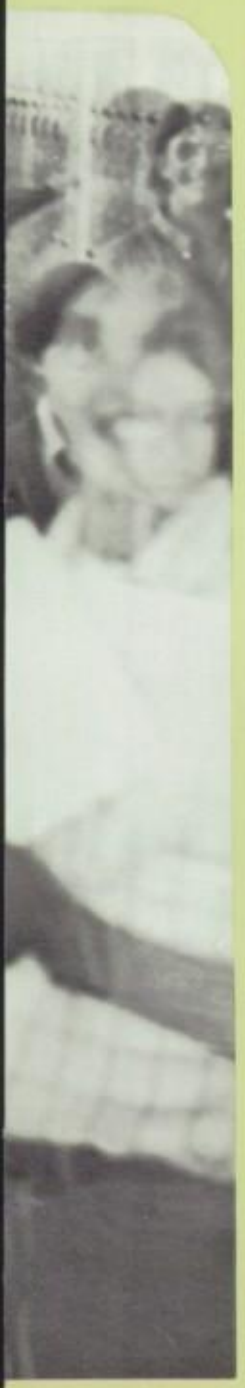
Summer lingered in the air but the action that pulsed through El Modena campus meant that beach days were over. Halls overflowed with students returning. Opening assembly in the amphitheatre initiated leaders for 1970-71. Introducing his cabinet, Associated Student Body President David Christopher proclaimed 1971 "the year of the Vanguard." Mr. Leonard Surles, new vice-principal welcomed the students and explained the complicated scheduling procedure. Under new director, Mr. John Work, the band performed and accompanied the Drill Team in routine. Then mascots Diane Shigetomi and Dan Sherrill joined the pep squad in leading cheers. "We are the Vanguards and couldn't be prouder." Members of the varsity football team displayed optimism and enthusiasm for the year. After singing the Alma Mater, Vanguards walked to the first-day confusion of school life.

New faces everywhere! Buses unloaded students from Cowan Heights and Villa Park, some sad transfers from the "Spartan Lair." Almost two thousand students, crowded onto a campus with a capacity of eighteen hundred, created problems, jammed halls, classes. Larger rooms were divided, and four portables squatted in the parking lot.





We All Grew With the Campus



New teachers, hired to cope with the extra students, were as confused as their classes with the double lunch schedule. Elimination of crowded eating facilities was predicted, yet when stomachs growled, the cafeteria was always full, and the lunch lines seemed endless. Only one thousand Guidons were printed—students literally fought to get one. Assemblies were held in the amphitheatre; the gym, maximum fire capacity eighteen hundred, no longer held the Vanguard student body. Double assemblies became necessary.

Tall .flights of stairs strained vacation-soft muscles. Vanguards sleepily mumbled the flag salute before classes—six periods of fifty-five minutes. Endless locker trips, necessary to relieve arms aching with heavy books, became a race with time. . .(Have you ever sprinted from Room 524—to a two hundred-wing locker and back to avoid a tardy slip and detention??). Clubs held elections for officers; new members were initiated. Noon meetings caused problems. . .(Do you have first or second lunch?) El Modena's fifth annual Swap Meet—an orgy of buying and bartering (everything from goldfish to cotton candy) littered the campus the weekend of March 6. This year profits went toward BEEM - Beautifying the Environment of El Modena.

El Modena's traditions inspired involvement and spirit. Juniors received class rings; seniors contemplated plans for Homecoming, prom, privileges. Kari Granville, third Homecoming queen, was attended by princesses (pictured counterclockwise) Debbie Sandford, Monica Shaw, Lynn Zaccone, and Marion Schmid. Dedicated by classes '71 and '70, the Vanguard statue and marquee became familiar sights. Resurrected from El Modena Elementary School's discards, the spirit bell rang out victory. Bright "spirit" ribbons were worn; classes yelled, competing for the spirit gun. El Modena's Alma Mater, sung after assemblies and games, with hands raised in a symbol of peace, pride, and victory, saluted cardinal and gold 'El Mo.

Responsibilities increased as the year progressed. Thoughts about future decisions . . . S.A.T., National Merit, and applications to colleges plagued upperclassmen. New challenges regarding curriculum unfolded. Each class taught the student what he could and could not do. Student government offered involvement in a democracy in miniature. In generations before, morals were absolute. Now young people must identify their own concepts of what is black and white, learn to accept the "shades of gray," or work to right wrongs.

We Learned a Campus Was Only Buildings

El Modena, the original Italian name for the small town, was changed by the post office to eliminate confusion with other towns such as Madera and Modesto. The name was again changed officially last year after extensive research. Built under architect Harold Gimeno, El Modena High School opened in 1966. $2,500,000 provided a forty-acre campus with sixty-six, carpeted, air-conditioned classrooms contained in 4 two-storied buildings.

Crowning Kari at Homecoming Highlighted

1970-71 Homecoming Court and dates: Steve Bixler, Debbi Sandford; Greg Young, Lynn Zaccone; Kim Carlson, Kari Granville; Monica Shaw, Dave DeNunzio; Marion Schmid, Dave Christopher.

Before a crowd of almost 10,000 people the Vanguard football team fought a losing battle against arch-rival Orange High. City League, and C.I.F. playoffs dependeu on the game. El Modena fans' spirits dropped from ecstasy to agony as the Panthers, gaining momentum, piled up the score. Tense feelings tingled at half time during the perfoimance of the El Modena Vanguard Band. The throne and red carpet were quickly scurried between a formation by the band. Waiting impatiently, trying to be regal, worried about tripping on long gowns, five candidates with escorts walked down a long pathway. 1969-70 Homecoming Queen Vicki Myers received the envelope from Marilyn Talley, Commissioner of Service and Control. Over a small loudspeader Vicki excitedly announced the 1970-71 Homecoming Queen, Kari Granville. The crowd strained to hear, then burst into applause as Kari was presented her crown and robe.

Alumni brightened the after-game dance, "Mystic Memories." Fog, cobwebs, and flourescent pumpkin eyes glowed under black light. Couples posed against a glimmering background. Music provided by the Profits lured spirits, but not the score, into rising.

Vanguards clash with Orange Panthers.

Tension sizzled as the Vanguards kicked off. El Modena's offense sputtered after the first series. Uncertainly the defense tried to analyze Orange's Triple-I option. Would Churchward, quarterback sprinter, keep or go right or left! Would fullback Nation or tailback Branch power inside or break outside?

Orange capitalized on their own speed and the opponents' inability to control the ball. Half-time score: Orange 14, EMHS 0. Despite Carlson's 300 plus yards, passing to Christopher and Timboe, and running - the final gun signaled Orange's victory over El Modena - 37 to 14

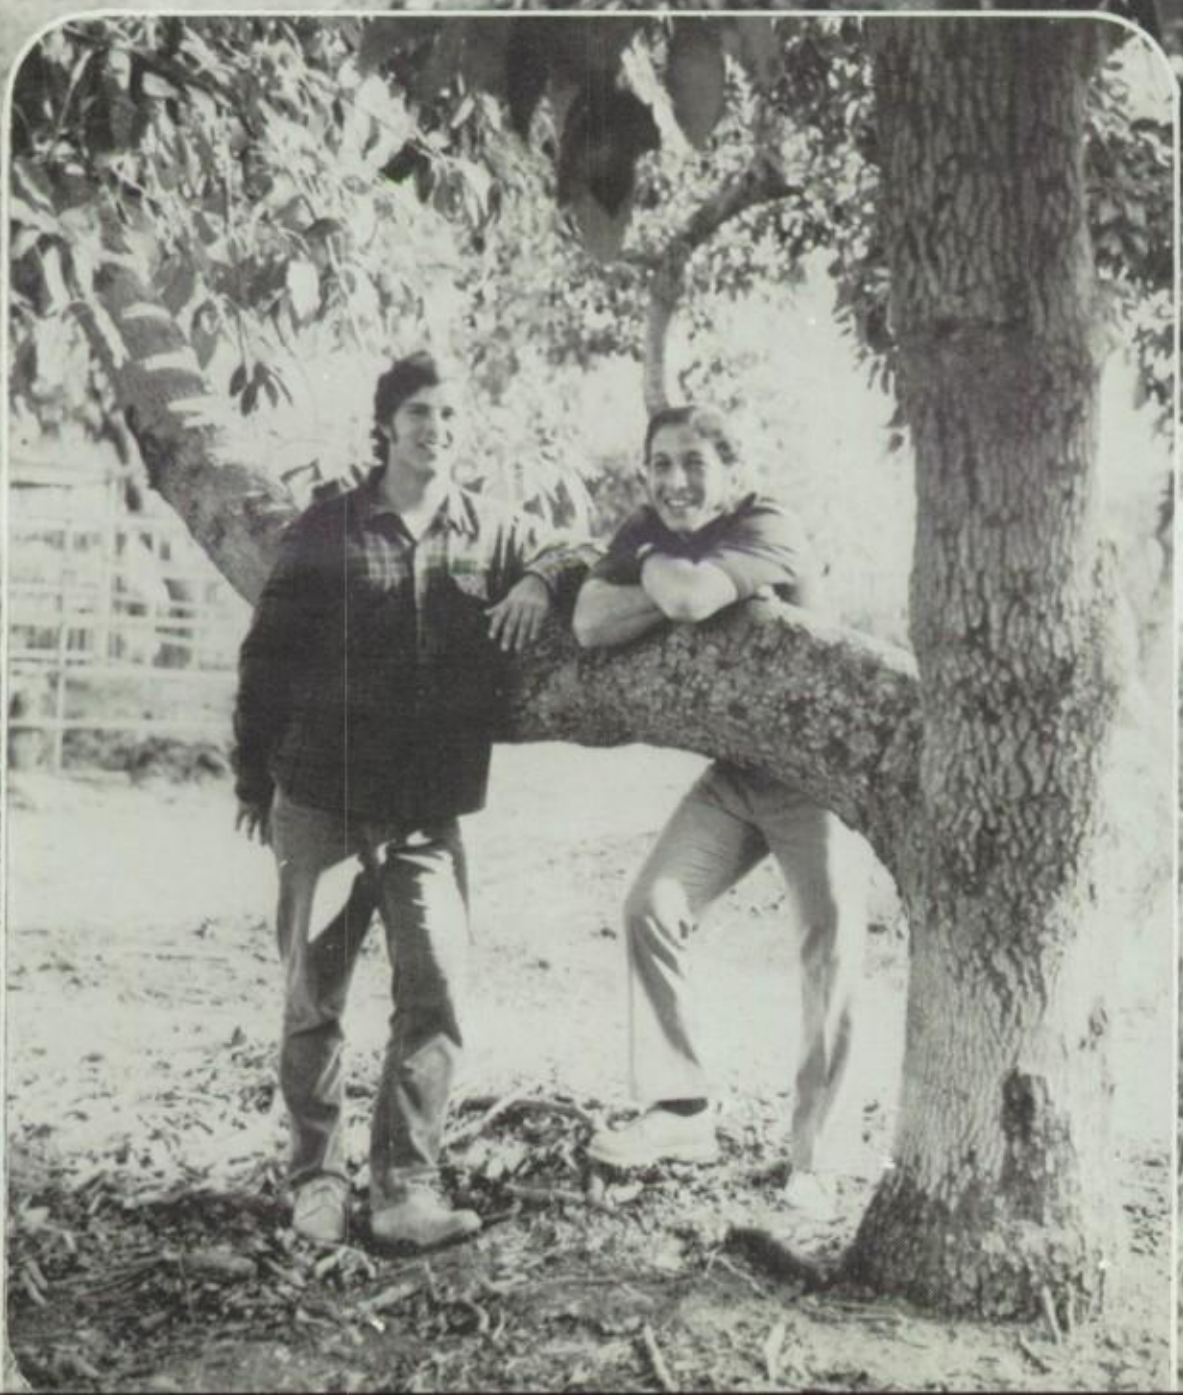
Velvet gowns, sweet scents, tuxedos and corsages transformed classmates into suddenly sophisticated dancers at the Christmas Coronation. December 4 was the date, and the Retail Clerks' Hall in Buena Park was the destination of 200 couples listening to the Don Beats. "Partridge in a Pear Tree," the theme, inspired gigantic gold, red, and green foil trees suspended from walls and reflecting from the polished floor. On the stage two living trees, bright with birds, framed the musicians.

After introducing the Coronation Court, Girls' League President Luana De Groot turned and announced the king, elected by student body vote, by placing a red velvet crown on King Jim Glitch. His queen was announced by assistant principal George Olds, and Jeannette Borchard, smiling despite the foot she broke while cheering at Homecoming, received the traditional kiss, crown, and crimson robe. Sliding her cast, Jeannette took Jim's arm, and they shared the royal privilege of the "first dance." Other court members and guests joined them, a couple at a time, until all the festive dancers crowded the floor.

Debbie Smith and Steve Patterson enjoy a quiet moment during "Close to You.'

What better king for Valentine's dance than a Valentine? Sweetheart Jeff Valentine was crowned by his girl friend Cheryl Coombs. Decorations fit for a king developed the theme, "The King and I." Multi-colored banners, and royal throne transformed El Modena's cafeteria into a King Arthur's palace. The Profits provided musical entertainment for this annual girl-date-boy sponsored by G.A.A.

Ladies' Choice



Winner of the title Mr. Vanguard, was junior, Paul Hillman. Other candidates were freshman Dean Thompson, sophomore Jim Tamura, senior Steve Abdnor. Candidates were chosen by class steering committees. Votes, cast by contributing one cent into cans carried by supporters of each candidate, went into class funds.

Boy's Forum, with membership of all boys on campus, had a more "involved" year than in the past. Led by president, Hartmuth Kittlaus, they participated in such activities as serving at the Girls' League annual Date-Dad, assemblies, co-sponsoring on Girls' League service projects, and planning a car rally.

Boy's Forum cabinet consisted of Hartmuth Kittlaus, president; Jim Clark, vice-president; Jim Welty, secretary; Bob Jensen, treasurer; and Kim Carlson, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Dennis Houser was advisor.

League Planned Activities for Campus Girls

Girls' League started off the year with Big 'n Little Sister Eat 'n Meet and continued on through the year with the Harvest Tea, which featured fashions from yesteryear, and the traditional Date-Dad. For the first time Girls' League held Christmas formal as a girl-date-boy affair, which proved very successful. Other events sponsored were Sadie Hawkins Day and dance, and the annual Mother-Daughter Tea in May. The highlight of the year was the 1970 Girls' League Interstate Conference when girls came from all over the state to El Modena in April.

The 1970-71 Girls' League Board consisted of Luana De Groot, president; Margie Stevens, vice-president; Karen Freese, secretary; Terri Stone, treasurer; representatives, Margaret Walker, senior; Kim Hickman, junior; Jan Neilson, sophomore; Debbie Post, frosh. Club Choices Widened With Fishing, Chess, Half-day deep sea boats off San Clemente for perch, halibut, and rockcod were some of the many activities of Rod and Reel Club. Other trips included fishing at San Juan Creek in Ortega Canyon, Pudding Stone Resevoir, and man-made Anaheim Lake. All money acquired through dues and a car wash went toward boats, bait, and food on fishing excursions. As a service project, members collected donations for the March of Dimes. Ron Gardon supervised Rod and Reel.

Terpsichorean concerts and master lessons broadened Modern Dance Club activities. Members learned new methods of technique and style from guest choreographers. Steven Peck demonstrated jazz at Orange High on October 21. Ethnic dancer on television and Broadway Steven Smith instructed technique on December 9. Dancers performed in the Drill Team Show and Senior Dance Concert, held in the spring.

Bible Fellowship members show their enthusiasm.

One of the youngest and fastest growing clubs on campus was the Bible Fellowship Club. With a membership of over sixty, they held early Monday morning meetings featuring Bible study and speakers such as Pastor Paul Caruso. Other activities included holding a Christmas party for needy children and a folk gospel concert with "Love Song." Proceeds went to the needy. Led by advisors John Komanapalli, the Bible Fellowship Club was open to those wanting to "experience the Bible."

Officers were: Pres. Phil St. Laurent, V.P. Harry Wilson, Sec. Maureen Knutson, Treas. Sue Day.

Working as a waitress in a restaurant, a checker in a grocery store, or a salesman in a department store brought students closer to the world of business through work experience. With a joint effort of the Orange Unified School District and businessmen of the community, the work experience program was able to provide practical job skills to the students. The program was separated into three divisions: general, exploratory, and vocational. These divisions furthered specialization in the various job opportunities. Under the supervision of Mr. Graf, 150 students were placed in appropriate jobs.

1971 Swap Meet proves to be a financial success.

El Modena's fifth annual Swap Meet, March 6, attracts children to "goodies."

El Modena's fifth annual Swap Meet was held Saturday March 6. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Ted Reich, another financial success came to the Vanguards. Officially the gates opened at 7:30 a.m., but many of the anxious sellers arrived before the sun rose to get a select space. Junk booths, food concessions, and art displays lured the shoppers around parking spaces. After a day filled with buying, selling, and stuffing themselves, the Vanguards gladly cleaned up and trod home. Money raised from gate admissions and space price went toward improving the El Modena campus.

Active Son of Norway Exchanged Ideas,

Trond Lilleng, son of a Scandinavian furniture manufacturer, lived an active year as El Modena's American Field Service student. Speaking fluent English, the 'adopted' member of the Thatcher family revealed similiarities and contrasts between Norwegian-U.S. cultures: "Morals, in my meaning, would mean not harming someone...considering others as important as yourself. Attitudes here and in Norway toward sex are not much different. Norwegian do not equate premarital sex with sin, but students my age do not live differently than here. Norwegians believe sex is something everyone should understand; it is natural-like to eat. Kids there examine pornographic material when they're 13 or 14; then it's ignored. People in Norway frequently live together when engaged 1 or 2 years, before they marry. Divorce is not as common in Norway as here. It is very hard to get divorce there."

"Norway's state religion is Lutheran. About 96% citizens are members but maybe 6-7% go.

"The silent majority in Norway is even larger than here. "Fashion? I saw more difference between liberal California and Utah - than Norway and here.

"There's not as much dating there; kids skate, swim in groups. From May 'til August the ocean is good; temperatures range from 70° to 80°.

"A generation gap seems to exist in my country, but there seems to be more radicalism here on college campuses-no riots there. But a few radicals stoned the American embassy last summer over Cambodia.

"We slept under the Golden Gate Bridge last summer when the Thatchers used their camper to go to San Francisco. "You are more crowded. Norway has 3.9 million citizens in a land as long as the area between Mexican, Candian borders. "Most Norwegians agree with fighting in Viet Nam but feel U.S. has failed to stop Communists from controlling S.E. Asia.

"Drugs coming from Sweden are beginning to be a problem. Laws are hard. We don't have much problem at schools yet, but the average kid can get it if he wants it.

Speech classes developed skills in public speaking. Speech IA taught students how to manipulate ideas and organize facts. Speech IB emphasized six major areas of public speaking; discussing, debating, reading aloud, speaking in chorus, dramatizing, and speaking on radio or television. Students learned to think quickly, rationally, and creatively before an audience in Speech IIA classes, while in Speech IIB, classes, students were taught leadership techniques through fact finding, debating, and Parlimentary Procedure. Finally, for the more able and advanced speaker, Public Speaking classes were offered. Students in this class participated in contests, and gained valuable experience in original oratory.

Hilary Smith muses over script.

Mrs. Maryina Herde: Speech I, Drama I,II, Drama Workshop ... sponsors Footlighters, Thespian Troupe 3176, enjoys directing, acting, swimming, her son's laugh, "almost cooking."

Drama was taught at three levels this year. Drama I, offering active participation in pantomine, improvisations, and acting, gave basic understanding of theater terminology. Drama II encouaged participation in school plays—either in an acting part or helping backstage. Drama Workshop was an in-depth study of the hows and whys of producing and directing plays.

El Modena's drama club, alias Footlighters, was the sole support of the drama department and financed all of its productions. To raise money, Footlighters sold spirit suckers, peanuts, and candy at football games. They manned a hamburger stand and junk booth in the swap meet. December third, fourth, and fifth, drama club produced its first play of the year; Neil Simon's Star Spangled Girl were Cheryl Coombs, Chris Scott, and Bob Raines. The second play, Stop the World, I Want to Get Off, was a combined effort with the music department. Acting in this play were Chris Scott, Monica Shaw, Denia Lopez, Debbie Smith, Pam Yoder, Julie Engman, and Cheryl Coombs. Assisting Mrs. Herde and Mr. Houser in the direction of this play was '70 El Modena Graduate, Steve Patterson.

Men's and women's choirs stressed choral techniques, as well as theory and musicianship. Chamber Singers, who gave civic performances, was made up of the best singing sophomores, juniors, and seniors on campus. Folk Club members receive basic guitar instruction.

Throbbing, penetrating rock, soft romantic ballads, and twangy country music crowded the El Modena cafeteria on March 5, 1971. Arranging and producing the fifth annual Hootenanny busied members of Folk Club. Artists included musicians from Orange, Villa Park, and El Modena, including alumni. Invitations to the auditions were sent out a month in advance. Informal seating surrounded an elevated, spotlighted stage. New additions to club meetings were alumni Dan Feldman and Jim Campbell who instructed beginning and intermediate guitarists. Bluegrass, country, folk, and rock styles were practiced by club enthusiasts.

Work was the word for the Vanguard Marching Band. New director John Work called early and late practices, chided, coaxed, demanded that students give their best. Results came quickly. At their initial appearance in the Chaffey Tournament, they won first runner-up competing against many other bands performing half-time shows. Next they combined with Villa Park and Orange High to present an all-district performance. Other programs included weekly half-times during football season; Christmas assembly, mid-winter concert; fifth grade concert, drill team's show, a combined concert with vocal music dept, and the annual May Festival parade in Orange. "Everything we did was geared to the future," stated Mr. Work, "when someday El Modena High will have the best instrumental music department in Southern California."

Mr. John Work

Arriving with the new year, band director John Work plotted the course for the Instrumental Music Department. "There was an abundance of freshmen and sophomores," Mr. Work stated, "and an equal deficiency of experienced, mature players." The director's emphasis was placed on fundamentals— rhythm, precision, follow through of air stream.

El Mondena's Orchestra was a string orchestra. They played and performed music from all periods, and gave two Christmas concerts, chamber music and spring concerts.

Four veteran members, K. Freese, M. Dennen, J. Buskey, and L. Harris, attended a drill team camp at Loyola University, Aug. 23-27, 1970 and won a fourth place award.

The team performed in half-time shows and parades. At the Oct. 31 half-time show at Chaffey, they placed first runner up. Third place was won at the Santa Monica Band Review on Nov 14. Other parades attended were the National City, May 1 and Orange Festival May 15.

Class Competition Sparked Spirit, Pride-

M.A.S.H. '71 was the theme for senior spirit day.

Vanguard spirit mounted as El Modena once again prepared for the Villa Park game. Stacked benches, a painted EM on the hill, and scattered posters all over the campus represented the Juniors burst of spirit on Monday. Shouts of loyalty to PIGS (Pride, Integrity, and Great Spirit) rang out on Freshmen class day. Decorated bicycles, cheers at nutrition, and a skit at lunch brought attention to the new class. Sophomores, police escorted, bicycled around the Orange Plaza and then on to cheer at Villa Park. MASH (Mighty Association of Senior Honor) plastered buildings with posters, baked cakes for the football team, and shouted out "Senior Power" on the spirit hay wagon. Unification of the classes at Friday's pep assembly combined the spirit in a last effort to bring the team to victory. A Spirit revival with a hearse, a plaque to the police department presented by "73," and the new cheer "Seniors in the front" highlighted the rally. After long thought and much recounting of votes, the pep squad chose the most spirited class. The Vanguards prevailed over the Spartans, and MASH carried away the spirit gun.

Dan and Diane Symbolized Avant Garde and Traditions

Pride as Vanguards inspired mascots, Dan and Diane, to lead the student body. Urging the crowd to yell for "our team" or ringing out another victory on the bell, they were symbols of spirit. Dan and Diane screamed, cried, laughed, and danced as the Vanguards went into competition. Their support gave the teams the determination to win. Whether winning or losing, Dan and Diane kept El Modena's spirit high.

Whether sharing the spotlight of attention at assemblies, or urging "everyone yell" when the team pushed to the five yard line, Dan and Diane symbolized the Vanguard

Daniel will be remembered for "Seniors in the front," tangled fringe, forgetting to wear his uniform, ripped seams, a big headache after the Santa Ana Valley game, his highs, his haircut, "Blood makes the grass grow," cotton mouth at the games, missing cues, gross posters, his Mickey Mouse shirt, pacholy oil, the uniform that never fit, the freak-ingout at the games, "Cool Hand Luke," his fun-loving moods, and the great support of "our teams."

Diane will always be remembered for never being on time, dancing til midnight, her effervescence, crying over losses, her Siamese cat outfit, her bottomless-pit trunk, roller skating down the stairs on her rump, her wet pantalets, peace-maker, always hurrying, losing her purse, her high-top tennies, ringing the victory bell, swallowing the microphone, her silly dance, and the cheering "our teams" to victory.

spirit. This spirit exemplifies the courage and the foresight of the early frontiersmen and can be compared to the students who find new frontiers today.

Jeannette Borchard "No, no, no, not again!" She remembers being scared for everything, morning practices, Hell Week, the team's gratitude, "our best friend," EM spirit, decorating the locker room, the whirlpool, peeking at the JV's, Dan's fun-loving moods, peeking in the gym and getting caught by T.L., broken foot and ankle, decorating S. W.'s bedroom, Coronation, and the team.

Kari Granville "Oh, you know what I mean!" She remembers summer practices, C.S.G. lemonade, camp-outs, laughing attacks til 4:00 a.m., first times, sore muscles, "wild" times, Homecoming, Daniel's cheers, Jan's bad luck, "masher" notes, the "originals," painting posters for the locker room, inside stories, being rushed, posing, "Vanguards in the front," and winning.

Mona Graves "You're kidding!" She'll never forget initiation, gold megaphones, 6:30 a.m. practices, Hell Week, her camera and the Santa Ana Valley rooter bus, Jeannette's and her cloddy crutches, basketball, waiting for B. J., Homecoming, C.S.G., decorating bedrooms and locker rooms, "Who's gonna win tonight?" happiness, tears, "our" seven victories, and El Modena.

Debbie Kozar "Alright rip!" She remembers initiation, practicing every morning during the summer, the trailer, C.S.G., Hell Week, winning the first game, decorating the locker room and bedrooms, watching Kari crowned Homecoming queen, seeing B.E. sitting in the whirlpool, trying to learn "12345," hearing the JV's talking over the fence, the coaches, and the football team.

Marion Schmid "I feel really strange!" She remembers 6:30 practices, nimble-footed Jeannette, losing Fanny Flapdoodle, JV's through the fence, oscars, Hell Week and half the team sick, David at Homecoming, "Monk," "our best friend," Daniel's cheers, 301 cafe, David doing "Vanguards in the front," the present that wasn't, J & B. back seat mashing, and winning.

Varsity Songleaders' Routines Added to El

Barbara Adlesich "You guys, I'm so sorry." Sports

Practice, pressure, game day...reactions: we won = joy; we lost = sorrow...lessons taught by the game of Life...trite words fleshed into breathing experience; if at first you don't succeed, try, try again; when the going gets tough, the tough get going. Athletes learned a man is not measured by his color or creed. Finding their own strengths and weaknesses, Vanguards worked at "playing" and learned the pride of winning with confidence, losing with courage...from Brotherhood to Manhood, sports challenged many.

Carlson completed 81 passes for 1232 yards.

Sounds of the crowds, 43,117 fans during a 9 game season, throbbed as the squad sprinted onto 100 yards of battered grass. Bright lights outlined their goal as they huddled. The first crack of the pads settled the butterflies. This was the moment, the reason for "Hell Week", painful hours overcoming muscles and minds, longest for coaches, re-running hours of opponents' films, sacrificing time and effort, dedicating your whole self and ego and hair ("What," she asked, "happened? You look terrible!) Kick off...stick 'em... our ball...we have to score! Cheerleaders yelling encouragement... "Watch that guy..." "Go for the ball" Coaches churning on the sidelines... half-time...lockerroom faces, stiff with strain...listen for audibles... don't let up...just one more down... hold 'em. We won! Twice we lost. "Coach, how 'bout a quarterback sneak?"

Explosive Passing Game Quickened

Kennedy: El Modena started the 1970 season on the right track by defeating highly regarded Kennedy High 19-14. With only 1:52 expired in the game quarterback Kim Carlson lofted a high pass to Mike Paolisso for the score. The fighting Irish came right back on a 55 yard bomb, then marched for an additional T.D. to lead at half 14-7. El Modena fought back by scoring twice in the third quarter, one on another Carlson-to-Paolisso pass. Kennedy went on to win the Freeway League championship and into C.I.F. playoffs.

Santa Ana Valley: Earning their second victory, El Modena blanked the Falcons 27-0. First score came as a gift when a pass from center sailed over the head of Valley's punter. Tom Scarr fell on the ball at the Falcon 9 yard line. Three plays later Brad Joyce hurdled in for the score, making it 6-0 at the intermission. El Mo's defense continued to do the job while the offense began to move in the second half. Kim Carlson scored three touchdowns in the final two periods to turn the game into a shut-out rout.

Tustin: Unbeaten El Modena opened Crestview League play with an impressive 33-14 win over the visiting Tillers. Tustin scored first on a "heads up" play, picking up a Vanguard punt and running 72 yards for the score. El Modena responded with a 12 play, 73 yard touchdown drive. On a Brad Joyce interception, the Vanguards furthered the margin when Max Ledesma sprinted 10 yards to the end zone. El Mo broke the game open in the fourth quarter with two T.D. passes to Gene Nollac and David Christopher.

Hopes as Carlson Gained 1486 Yards

Mission Viejo-El Modena continued on their winning ways by edging the Diablos 14-7. It was a game of numerous penalties which proved costly for the Vanguards throughout the game. On the opening kick-off Tim Trader recovered a fumble on the Diablo 31 which led to a El Modena touchdown by Max Ledesma. Mission Viejo went ahead 7-6 in the third quarter. With five minutes gone in the fourth period, Tom Trader recovered a fumble on the Diablo 40-yard line which set up the winning score. It came on a 15-yard pass to Steve Timboe.

Villa Park- An alert Vanguard defense was the difference in a 29-8 victory over cross-town rival Villa Park. The defense accounted for 14 points, held the Spartans to a minus 48 net rushing yards and intercepted 4 passes. Dave Christopher ran one back. The other was a record breaking 98-yard return by Gene Nollac. Kim Carlson added to the score, hitting both Christopher and Timboe for touchdowns. Villa Park's only score of the night came on a 25-yard scoring pass two seconds before the intermission at halftime.

Foothill- El Moder had never before defeated its next opponent, Foothill. But the 1970 Vanguards were up to the task. They traveled to dimly lit Tustin Stadium and came home with a 15-13 triumph. Junior Mike Johnson got his first starting assignment and scored early in the game on a 5-yard pass. Foothill tied the game early in the fourth quarter. El Modena responded with a game winning 90-yard touchdown drive with Carlson diving over from the 1. Foothill scored again. However, the two point conversion pass was batted down by Terry Mowry.

Versatile O.H.S. Panthers Outscored

Orange: Stakes were high: the Crestview League championship, a C.I.F. play-off berth, and the 1970 city football championship. But it wasn't the Vanguards' night. Orange Panthers "put it all together" to defeat the El Modena Vanguards 37-14. Orange's strong running attack scored twice to build a 14-0 halftime lead. El Modena took to the air, scoring in the third quarter on an 11 yard toss to Mike Johnson. Later in the fourth period an underthrown pass by Carlson resulted in a 63 yard scoring play by Christopher.

Katella: El Modena came back after the loss to Orange with a well balanced attack to beat Katella 18-7. Katella held a 7-6 lead at the half. In the third period the Knights had driven to the Vanguard 4 yard line when Brad Joyce recovered a fumble. From then on it was El Mo's game. Vanguards drove 90 yards in 14 plays with Carlson capping the drive on 26 yard run. Carlson then kicked the ball on-side and recovered it himself. This set up a 34 yard blast off-tackle by Brad Joyce to complete the Vanguard scoring.

San Clemente: E.M.H.S. concluded its winning season losing to the Tritons 27-8. Tritons took advantage of Vanguard mistakes to put together their best game of the year. San Clemente dominated throughout the game, scoring twice from 3 yards out and once through the air. Vanguards threatened to score several times but pass interceptions and fumbles discouraged any attempts. El Modena finally managed to get on the scoreboard with a Carlson left end sweep before the gun sounded to avoid a shut-out.

Player of the Villa Park game, David Christopher, scores on a 43-yard pass, one of 23 receptions for 404 yards during the season.

Bee Team Proved Desire, Talent in 6;

1970 Bee football team, with an overall 6-3 record, finished second in the league. Tri-captions, Steve Ledesma, Al Swavely, and Dave Chadwick, led the team to five straight wins before losing quarterback Steve Ledesma to the varsity. Charlie Gonzales filled in at quarterback but lacked the experience needed. Bee losses of the season went to Orange (16-14) and Katella (14-0). This year's team produced many good prospects for the varsity level. Kirk Kennedy, Dave Chadwick, Charlie Gonzales, Al Swavely, and most valuble player Steve Ledesma are expected to help the varsity next year. Rudy Lucidi and Jack Burke coached the Bees to their winning season.

Coaches Thomas Yim and Bob Farrimond led the team to their winning season. Mr. Jim Cruickshank, a student at Cal State Fullerton, volunteered his time and help to the squad. Standouts on the team were Robert Colin, Rick Lozano, captains Dave Maddox and Stan Pollard. Elected by the team, quarterback Maddox was most valuable player of the year.

Cross Country Runners Captured Fourth

El Modena's cross country team, coached by Wayne Gutowsky, captured league titles in the varsity and junior varsity divisions for the fourth consecutive year. Varsity players suffered one dual meet loss to Foothill 27-28, but came back to destroy the Knights in the Crestview League finals by 24 points. The junior varsity outclassed the league by winning all dual meets and the league finals. New to El Modena, Coach Gutowsky kept the high standards of Coach Jim Schultz's cross country teams from previous years. During practice, runners averaged ten miles per day in order to keep in shape for meets. Locations in Orange, Irvine Park, and Peter's Canyon were the common practice grounds covered by harrier team members.

1970-71 basketball was a long season of disappointment for the Vanguards. While winning 4 games and dropping 10, they ended the season tied with San Clemente for sixth place. This year's team was the most experienced coach Bill Ervin has had in his three years at El Modena. Four starters from the '69-'70 season returned: senior center Tom Long, senior forward Mike Baden, junior forward Larry Johnson and sophomore guard Tim Tivenan. Kim Carlson, also a senior, played guard and was the team's play maker. El Mo began practicing early in the summer by participating in a summer basketball program at Santa Ana College. Competing against them were Mission Viejo, Santa Ana Valley, and Mater Dei-to name a few. El Modena won 10 games while losing only 4, earning second place.

The Vanguards participated in preseason play in the Corona-Norco Basketball Tournament and the Troy Invitational Tournament over the Christmas Holidays. The extreme balance of the league was a dominant factor in the '70-'71 standings. Nevertheless, the Vanguards proved their potential by defeating Villa Park 59-57, Mission Viejo 42-35 and the Crestview League Champion Katella, 57-55. Concluding the season, the Vanguards stopped San Clemente 56-44. Tom Long was honored as most valuable. Elected co-captains were Mike Baden and Larry Johnson.

Inexperienced players was the main reason for the losing season of the 1970-71 Junior Varsity. Nevertheless, as the season progressed the team showed much improvement. Their overall record was 4-14, while winning 2 games, one against Villa Park 58-56 and the other with Katella 64-60. Dale Arambel coached the JVs. Bruce Quigley, named most valuable, and Capt. Scott Wiseman received awards.

Starting off the season with 5 straight wins, the 1970-71 Bees seemed the team to beat in league play. However, they faced tougher competition in the conference than in pre-season, finishing sixth place with a 5-9 record. Scott Bigler and Craig Johnson were first in scoring and rebounding. Johnson was elected most valuable. Rudy Lucidi coached this year's Bee team, and Craig Peterson was captain.

With a league record of 8 wins and 6 losses, the 1970-71 Cee team captured fourth place. Cees started out the season slow but finished strong, winning 5 of their last 7 games. The season was highlighted by turning down league champion, Mission Viejo 25-22. Center Kirby Day paced the Cees throughout the season with a 14 point average. In his first year as Cee coach, Bob Farrimond tried to give every boy the chance to participate in sports. Kirby Day, co-captain with Mike Klotzly, was selected most valuable player of the year.

For the first time in 5 years the Crestview League title went to a team other than the Vanguards. In the first league meet of the year El Modena lost a close decision to Tustin 25-24. The Vanguards fought back, winning the next 6 meets. However, Tustin went through the conference undefeated. Although the Vanguards had to settle for the runner-up spot in league standings, their season was nothing but a success; three of their 6 victories were 'shutouts'-Mission Viejo 54-0, Villa Park 57-0, and Katella 59-0.

Another new coach, Beau Carter, assisted coach Reisman throughout the year. In league finals 7 of the 13 qualified for C.I.F. Those who took firsts were: John Araujo, Jimmy Wood, Carl Slocum, Jim Welty, and Brad Joyce. Jimmy Tamura and John Journeay took seconds. Tom Trader was also allowed to wrestle filling a disqualification. In the C.I.F. preliminaries Carl Slocum and Jimmy Wood qualified for the finals.

Slocum and Wood were the only Vanguard wrestlers who made it into the March 6 finals. Carl was disappointed when he came down with the flu the week of CIF finals. However, he did wrestle and placed fifth. Wood placed third as he lost by only one point in semi-finals.

With 117 out for the team, the Vanguards placed high in a league of tough competition. Orange was the league's favorite with El Modena, Tustin, and Foothill adding to the balance of the conference. An important factor in El Mo's success this year was the winning traditions established in four previous years (3 firsts, 1 second). High-jumper Mark Phelps and shot putter-discus man Terry Mowry added strength to the field events. Gene Nollac, Steve Winters, and Bob Watson were all strong in the hurdles. The distance runners, many from the cross-country squad, dominated league competition. Head coach Pete Parker and assistants Wayne Gutowsky, Roy Grimshaw led the team.

Veteran Ball Club Beats City Foes

Crestview League teams were evenly balanced this year; El Modena Orange, Katella, Tustin, and defending champion San Clemente proved to be strong. This year's team was basically a senior ball club consisting of a veteran infield: shortstop Kim Carlson, Scott Bartley at 3rd base, 1st baseman Frank Bojorquez, and Max Ledesma at 2nd base. The Vanguards were young and inexperienced at pitching and catching positions. However, Gary Ledbetter did a consistent job at catcher while pitchers Curt Peterson, a transfer from Garden Grove, and Steve Folsom managed to keep opposing scores down.

El Modena baseball was the strongest it has ever been in all divisions. The Junior-Varsity, under coach Chuck Wood, breezed through the pre-season undefeated and carried their winning ways into league play. Many good prospects for future varsity action developed and improved as the season progressed. Second baseman Chuck Gonzales and centerfielder John Mitchell led the team defensively while Gary LaBarber paced the team as the leading hitter.

Frosh-soph baseball also proved to be a threat throughout the season. After splitting four pre-season games, they went on to win in league play. With only three returning lettermen, the 1971 tennis team found it difficult to keep up with the league leaders due to their lack of experience. Junior Kim Cline, junior Dave Pierce and senior captain and four year letterman Greg Young provided the squad with what little experience they had. Crestview league favorites Foothill and Tustin proved to be very strong against the Vanguards. In pre-season play the net men split four matches. Coach Neal Bruington felt if the squad could play consistent tennis and keep the ball in play they would do well in league. The Junior-Varsity team, led by Jim Hefty and Ed Gover looked promising for next year's varsity team.

New members of G.A.A. were inducted with a candle ceremony. The Awards Banquet in May brought an end to a successful year. Participating girls received awards for team standing, service points, or attendance points. New Board officers were also inducted at the Banquet after farewell speeches.

Badminton season brought victory to the individual sports team. The top six varstiy singles and doubles players entered playdays well prepared. Two months of pre-season hard work and practice surfaced during each playday. Mrs. Barbara Clark, badminton advisor, strove to instill the necessity of skill and agility in the game. Diligence gave the team the extra advantage to win.

New Elective Courses Adapted Physical

Keeping slim and trim, learning rhythm from "dancercizes," and developing grace and agility "while falling," added life to this year's girls' physical education program. An elective system was initiated this year to add variety to P.E., a state requirement. The curriculum was designed to balance team and individual sports such as golf, touchdown, folk dance, modern dance, basketball, softball, volleyball, slimnastics, badminton, rhythm gymnastics, tennis, hockey, gymnastics, track and archery.

Anne Folkert: P.E., Drill Team, Banner and Flag Girls...Lenior Rhyme College ...interior decorating, "what you don't use, you lose."

This year the boys' physical education department placed more emphasis on individual and dual sports such as gymnastics, tumbling, tennis and wrestling. Golf was a new addition to the program. Four new coaches joined the P.E. staff, Mr. Thomas Yim, Mr. Dennis Reisman, Mr. Beau Carter and Mr. Chuck Wood. Coach Yim instructed the adaptive P.E. program while Mr. Reisman stepped in as head wrestling coach. In addition to physical education, Mr. Beau Carter and Mr. Chuck Wood were assistant coaches on the varsity football staff.

Academics

Unusual classroom activities aided the learning process; a few examples...Biology natural selection experiments proved student 'birds' picked mostly blue toothpick 'prey'...Miss Janet Ayres' history classes dug for fossils in parking lot planters...Dissection of anchovies, worms, and frogs taught life functions...Foods classes experimented with exotic dishes in addition to learning the basics...Field trips ...New weaving looms enabled art students to create original material designs...Infinite learning.

Gaining Fluency, Language Majors Enrolled

Three levels of German were offered this fall. German I consisted of pronunciation and use of the vocabulary, with emphasis on grammar. German II was a cultural study of Germany, as well as a deeper study into the language. Level III used prose, poetry, and drama of Germany to promote understanding of the history and customs of the native German people.

This year French was taught at four levels. French I dealt with the speaking and understanding of the language. French II continued from the first level and drilled deeper into grammar, reading and writing, while French III, a more advanced course, completed the three year foreign language requirement of college bound students. French IV offered an intensive study of the material coverd in previous levels. Films and slides on France aided the understanding of French history.

"Parlez-vous Francais?" Enjoying the romantic French language was inspiration for French Club members. Activities of the club included pot luck breakfasts and dinners with gallic food and dining at a French restaurant. Money raised by the club bought new audio-visual equipment for the Foreign Language Department. As a service project members spent extra hours tutoring other French students.

Communication with the University of California at Irvine stemmed from the German Club viewing films. Dues from each member paid for "Student Series Passes," enabling the club to attend German films at the Irvine campus. The Phoenix Club, an Orange County organization of German descendants, provided atmosphere for the German Club dinner. Another activity was playing chess in German.

Spanish and Latin Courses, Clubs Gave

Mr. Thomas Saenz

Spanish, a frequently used language on campus, offered six levels of study this fall. Spanish IA and IB were mainly an introduction to the language. Emphasizing simple verb tenses, Spanish II gave a deeper study of grammar, while level III included discussions and usage of outside materials. Spanish IV classes studied literature and history of Spanish-speaking countries. Level V, new this year, stressed further profiency in Spanish. Mr. William Schertle headed the department.

Mr. William Schertle: Spanish II... Class of '73, Bible Fellowship Club, wishes he were a train engineer...famous for jokes.
Mr. Tomas Saenz: Spanish II, III, IV... Spanish Club...taco parties...football... travel...camping in Baja California.

Individuals Selected From 15 Semester

Language Arts Department inspired development of reading, writing and speaking skills. Headed by Mrs. Catherine Lee, Language Arts offered fifteen different courses. English I covered extensively the structure and function of the English language. American Literature gave a complete study of American works, both modern and historical, while British Literature covered the history and literature of England from 2500 B.C. to the present. World Literature, presented in three levels, studied the works of eighteen different countries, and gave students the opportunity to refine techniques of communication and research. The Novel, offered in two levels, studied, discussed, and evaluated fiction. The Short Story gave emphasis to the structure of a short story and knowledge of major short story authors. Composition, offered in two levels, gave students the opportunity to evaluate magazine articles, and express their ideas creatively through writing. Advanced Reading strived to improve vocabulary, speed, and comprehension of reading. Many of the department's fifteen courses were offered in semester divisions to permit students to complete and excell in any one of the areas. Many of these courses were college preparatory courses.

Deadlines, Panics, Pride; Yearbookies Created 71 Escena

Dedicated to bettering last year's best, which included a first place award from the National Scholastic Press Association and Columbia rating services, the 1971 Escena staff experienced the hassle of deadlines, writing and rewriting, typing and retyping copy, ordering and reordering pictures, mistakes, changing layouts, changing plans, yelling, praising, joking, losing things, panic, all night rushes, after school sessions, holiday workouts, and happy relief after "D"-day. Beginning with a brand new room—506 East (next door to the girls' restroom), including a darkroom with no equipment, one working typewriter, no clock, intercom, bell, windows, carpet, bulletin boards, or phone, the staff seemed disorganized, yet they survived and produced. Eventually, after threats, sarcastic editorials, pleading, begging, etc., two new typewriters, a promised sink, and some darkroom equipment were bestowed upon the journalism department. Memories— of utter confusion, pink passes, the unforgettable smell of liquid paper, procrastinations, numerous trips to Albert and James, Larry's split ends, Mr. Fullerton the faithful, Pepsi, parties, gossip, color pictures, good pictures, bad pictures, wet pictures, advertising, raising over $12,000, bags and stickers, yellow armbands, Mama Nell, an unused editor's letter, morale boosters, Claudia's ulcers over photo schedules, Gail's birthday party, financial nightmares, a fire extinguisher mystery, a cover crisis, problems, proofs, page stamps, "croping" sheets, grease pencils, Smedleys, excitement over the book's arrival, 100 feet of accidently exposed film, 450 lost, strayed, or stolen underclass pictures, the layout boys' (Billy, Bobby, and Ronnie) minibasketball championship...Good excuses do not make good yearbooks!!!

Students Acquired Practical Knowledge

"Business Education prepares the student for W.O.W.—the World of Work," stated department chairman Azalee Johnson. New equipment for 1970 included a cash register, study carrels, film strip projectors, and tape cassettes for individualized instruction. Courses of Bookkeeping, General Business, Business Law, Business Machines, Salesmanship, Introduction to Stenography, Secretarial Training, Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced typing, Record Keeping, Office Service and Office Occupations (a phase of work experience) offered a wide variety to students that wished to develop skills in this area. To some it was just a matter of hitting the right key—to others it was preparation for tomorrow, a key to the future.

Miss Arlene Kamenuk

Mrs. Barbara Boling was chairman for the Home Economics department at El Modena, and also for the district. Courses taught were all in a relative field of learning—devoted to the home and everyday living. Foods and clothing in three levels taught basics. Twenty-three boys were enrolled in Foods. Many students were involved in service in the snack bar. Home Design and Management, and Family Living evaluated home development as a result of field trips to housing tracts. Fashion Merchandising, a new class, taught selected students effective salesmanship. A course in Consumer Education is being planned for 1971-72 curriculum.

The Christmas Potluck Awards Banquet, astrology program, and Careers Conference all aided in extending the F.H.A. treasury. Hall's Jewelers' table setting contest at Fashion Square was another annual event. Money raised was used to purchase award pins for officers and a service project in the community.

Wood, Metal, Auto Shop Classes Prepared

Industrial Arts Department, under chairman Wendel Loftsgard, offered students a variety of practical arts courses. Drafting stressed design, dimensions, and drawing. Auto shop gave opportunity to learn about car repair. A new engine analyzer was added for this purpose. Wood shop projects started with bowls, and advanced to stereo speakers and tables. Electronics offered everything from basic study of electricity to computer logic. Machine and Metal shop covered use of tools, and spinning metal into complex shapes. Shops were used for community night school, as were other facilities.

Infinite Fields of Scientific Research Lured

El Modena's Science Department, with chairman Edward Gaines, stressed learning by observation and experimentation. Frogs, anchovies, worms and other creatures dissected in Biology taught the basics of life, as did Physiology. Chemistry, Phyics, and Life Science were other subjects. Integrated Science Concepts, a new course this year introduced beginning students to all areas of science. Field trips—Chemistry classes went to Union Oil and UCR smog research centers: Biology students learned oceanography on Orange County's Marine Floating Lab. Physiology students visited Loma Linda Hospital to study human diseases.

Meeting Monday nights after week-end excursions, Geology Club members displayed specimens and stories of their rock hunting. Extending their interest into projects, the club sold polished stones with Pepsi at the annual Swap Meet. Throughout the year members attended exhibits of rocks at state mineral shows and fairs. Looking towards the future, individual members plan a vacation to Northern Calif. and Oregon to collect summer specimens. Pollution being a major concern of the world prompted the Science Club to update itself. This year the club spent time changing and developing into a contemporary ecology club.

For years Man has tried to understand himself and his problems:
To understand his problems and break them down and show why it happens;
To understand why people do things and how they feel when they're doing it;
To understand himself more thoroughly and more accurately.
Man has not tried hard enough to accomplish this task.
For this reason Man has racial problems.
Remember, there is no race better than another.
They're all human beings no matter which way you look at it.
People are people, no matter what color his skin is or what language he speaks in.
Now they say that it's all changing
But has it really?
I admit that Man is doing something to change these things.
But how long will it take before most of it changes?
For this reason, I think it's going to be up to our generation.
For one thing, there isn't as much hate for one's skin as in the older generation.
I'm not saying that our generation is the best generation there is been so far, but that it's going to have to start someplace.
I used to think that a person had to be white in order to get a good job, but I've changed my mind.
I see schools starting to get together and be as one
And that makes me feel good.
The teachers are great too.
Instead of letting somebody go down the drain,
They're constantly after you to shape up.
All I've got to say is, "World, you've got it!"

Somewhere a woman weeps,

Beautiful as the earth
Bright as the sun
And more powerful than the sky.

TOGETHER

I have seen your face
And the beauty I see there gives me hope.
You have touched my soul
And with that touch, recalled me to life.
Let me look into your eyes now
To read the thoughts behind.
Alone we are together
And together we are strong.

LIFE

Life is a field of grass
As I lie there dreaming
In another world.
Never knowing hate or fear
Always feeling love
The sun, the sky, the sea...
What a trip to be alive.

EXPERIENCE

Walking in the darkness,
Not knowing where to turn.
I stumble and rise again
More lost than ever.

I cannot see my way.
I'm flying blind, and scared.
It's so very confusing
To wander like this.

Other stand near and watch,
Convinced it's the best way.
Alas, experience,
No one wishes to share.

They turn their heads away
And pretend I'm not there.
They refuse to notice
My struggling.

Oh, learned people,
Can't you understand?
Your experience I need-
Have pity, and share!

Man is a strong human being, but yet the strongest man can be conquered by fear. The thought of not knowing what lies ahead can drive the strongest man mad. A simple, harmless dark room in a house is no threat or problem to some people, but yet that dark room is so mysterious and so nerve-racking that it makes people think twice before entering one. Some people ask, "Why?" But they really don't understand because man was made to be great and with no weaknesses. Man cannot be weak in any mysterious way these days—and show it, that is. But man is human and that's why man has fear, for fear is man's greatest enemy, and man will continue to fight fear for as long as he lives. This sometimes is a challenge to some men, a task to accomplish, for the curiosity of man has to be satisfied, and a man has to feel like a man in order to be a man.

BIRTH

Not long ago, there was freedom
A soft puff of spring wind,
Blew the tuft, high in the air,
Landing heavens knows where

But now from this initial flight,
New dandelions spring up by night.
All because of one tuft.
But that was enough.

A Day Like This

On a day like this,
When the sun won't rise,
And you can't find the sky,
For the tears in your eyes.

On a day like this,
When you can't feel the ground,
'Cause your feet are dead,
And your ears hear no sound.

Your tongue can't taste,
You've lost your sense of smell,
You wish your eyes would open,
But fear you may see
hell.

Be brave and open wide
your eyes.
And see the light above,
This day that you are lost in,
Shall be replaced by LOVE.

This World of Ours

This is a big, beautiful country, but somehow the beauty is fading. People, like herds of cattle pour in daily, and the people, like herds of cattle, stomple this big, beautiful country to ashes. They say the only way to stay up to this so-called time is to be modern, but what does modern really mean? New highways for quicker transportation and more smog, new cities for more population and less recreational areas, new factories for more jobs and less man power needed. Who's really kidding who? We know what's really happening: That poor, defenseless creatures of God are being driven from their surroundings and only homes; that, in fact, all the wild life is being abused; that there aren't enough camping grounds and hunting grounds as there used to be; that our big, beautiful redwood trees are being destroyed; that there aren't as many clean lakes or streams that there once were; that our most prized possession of all is being abused—"AIR." This world is sacred to a lot of people. To me the national forests, the great, great, big beautiful mountains and lakes serve as an escape route for a lot of people. Humanity wants to breathe, no, humanity demands to breathe. For this reason that word "MODERN" is our own death trap. No, man is wrong when he thinks the war is in Viet Nam. The war is here, and it's against that word "MODERN."

Time

Where does she go?
When I need her, she has slipped
Stealthily through my fingers.
Ah, if I could have her to myself,
To come and go as I pleased.

She chooses to stay at most in
Opportune times,
She inspires all who know her.
Great idols to her have been Constructed.
She sits in her throne
commanding;
Yet she uses not a single word.

Our lives are controlled, mutely
By her,
Knowingly she rules the world.
While our old, too aged to respond
To her command;
Lean back and watch, asking,
Where has all the time gone!

When does life Begin?

When does life begin?
When are you born?
or when you start to exist
When you feel the first warmth
Of your mother's breast or the love that may exist
When does life begin?
When you fall in love? or
When you get hurt?
When does life begin
When you are born or
When life is born in you?
When does life begin
When you are born?
When you are born? or
When you stop to exist
But begin to live.

Reflections on Universal Power & Light

They're gone now. A simple statement. They were good. So . . . what else is new?

Just thought you might like to hear the views of an optimistic pessimist, my dear apathetic friend. We sat and watched, each forming an impression.

I meditated, yes, truly. So they sing, in one ear and out the other.

No, my dear apathetic friend, you just sat. However I do admire the fact that you were semi-observant, and semi-listening. Yes, I must commend you for the complaints of lousy sound, too much of it, or the fact our jitterbugging friend looked rather odd.

Well, now it's my turn to be apathetic towards you. I found the song and dance routine interesting (shock!!!) but the message was vibrating, even jarring. There I said it...so—shut up! They were new, dynamic and spoke not but the truth. He ain't heavy, he's my brother! Even hypocrites heard it.

We'll sit and mumble for a long time but the truth of the matter remains: Does anybody know what time it is? It is the age of unity, the age of fellowship among our bretheren and you, my apathetic friend, are a part of it. So get out there, reach out, grasp the hand of '71 and bring yourself up to date. And furthermore think positively. I'll be waiting, but as they say...She gets weary, waiting for a time for us. This land is your land, take it or leave it, but don't get caught in the middle.

El Amor

El amor es un sentimiento que
nace de lo mas profundo del corazon;
cuando una persona se enamora ve la vida color de rosa, el amor es un sentimiento muy inexplicable.
El amor es un sentimiento que
nadie ha hallado las palabras adecuadas para explicar el amor de dos personas que se quieren demasiado.
El amor nace de lo mas profundo
de nuestro corazon; cuando dos personas se enamoran todo lo que ven es maravilloso, pero luego llega la traicion; el llanto ye el dolor de perder quel amor; que ha brotado de lo mas profundo de nuestro corazon.

Eres rayo de sol en la alegria
y en el ensueno vago resplandor;
eres penumbra en la melancolia
y eres noche sin fin en el dolor.

Eres sombra propicia en pleno dia,
en mitad de la noche eres albor.
Eres contradiccion y armonia,
destruyes ye eres creador.

Eres canto de gloria en la sequia,
eres calma y ternura en el ardor;
y el arroyo adulador.

There once was a powerful yet beautiful country, where all men were classified as brothers, yet no man took the time to look. One day this beautiful country became involved in a war. When its people asked, "Will you please end this war?"

The country could only reply, "I would prefer not to."

So on it went and on men died and then one day the people gathered to voice their opinions and exercise their freedom of assembly. Then in came the country's bodyguards and proceeded to bash in their skulls. When the people screamed, "Why don't you stop this violence and hate?"

The country calmly replied, "I would prefer not to."

So on it went and on men died and soon there came the day that men of other races asked, "Will you set us free?"

But from the country came the same reply, "I would prefer not to."

This country like all countries was made up of many people that would prefer not to, and from the horizon there came a great war that eliminated all the people and all the countries. When the creator was asked, "Will you make more people?"

He could only reply, "I would prefer not to."

Expanded studies of history highlighted the Social Science Department. Under the direction of Mr. Loal Cole, the main concern was "To make students aware of their world, how it functions, and how to operate within the society." Old World Civilizations, required for freshmen, Modern World History for sophomores, and U.S. History, a junior course, gave emphasis to progress. Seniors had a choice of American Democracy, Comparative Political Systems, Contemporary American Problems, Economics, and Social Psychology, or Mexican American Studies, both new classes this year. All these courses stressed living in today's changing society.

C.S.F. and W.H.S. Recognized Students

"Scholarship for service" symbolized California Scholarship Federation. A minimum of three "A's" and one "B" in academic subjects were required for membership. Students holding four semesters, including one senior membership, were eligible to become Sealbearers which colleges recognize as a symbol of notable achievement. Members were able to apply for special C.S.F. scholarships to universities. Helping with 1971 Baccalaureate reception and field trips to colleges highlighted the year's activities. Mr. Roy Grimshaw advised the honor group.

Who Excelled in Academic Achievements

Inductees Debbie Loh, Dave Thor, Stan Wilbur, and Debbie Smith await honors.

Excellence in academic achievement coupled with outstanding character, service, and leadership were requirements of National Honor Society. Each new member, tapped during classes as notification of membership, participated in formal induction March 4. N.H.S. activities included Baccalaureate tea honoring all graduates and their parents, field trips, a swap meet booth, and drumstick sales at football games. Mrs. Katherine Lee and Mrs. Marjorie Sheldon advised the honor club.

Orange Unified District voters approved merging with the Rancho Santiago College District on February 2. Subsequent electorate action on April 20 decided trustees for the new board. Excluding inter-district transfers for specialized courses, future El Modena graduates will attend Santa Ana College if they enroll at a junior college.

Members of the 1970-71 Orange Unified School District Board of Education were F. Bert Skiles, Gilbert Darwin, Robert Elliott, Ruth C. Evans, David Miller, Eleanore Pleines, and Keith Lynn with Superintendent Harold Kibby. Superintendent Kibby became head of the district in 1953. The board met in regular Thursday night meetings, open to the public, to establish new and change old policies, review the dress code, control expenditures, and other executive duties. Curriculum development to gear classes to an ever-changing society was a particular concern. Coping with inflation without raising taxes was another problem.

Superintendent Harold Kibby

Richard L. Cook Guided the Administration

Principal Richard L. Cook

Mr. Cook

Mr. Richard L. Cook, principal of El Modena since its opening in '66, was born in Albion, Michigan, on September 9, 1919. He graduated from Homer High in Homer, Michigan. After four and a half years in the Marine Corp, he returned to graduate from Michigan State U. He earned his Masters Degree in School Administration at USC. As an avid sportsman, he lettered in four major sports in high school, and was on varsity football for two years at Michigan State. Redecorating their new home is a preoccupation of Mr. and Mrs. Cook, the former Margery Elliott, speech therapist.

With Schedules, Careers, and Control—

Mr. George Olds, Assistant Principal in charge of Student Personnel Services, attended Illinois Bradley U. Active in wrestling and swimming, he enjoys fishing, hunting, and wallpapering his home under his bride's direction. He feels that "Every child should have the opportunity to progress at his own rate to his own level of aspiration."

Mr. George L. Olds

Mr. Len A. Surles, Assistant Principal in charge of curriculum and instruction, received his Bachelor of Science and master's degrees at U. of Oregon. He was a member of Phi Delta Kappa, and is a "lifetime letterman." Along with planning new projects and helping teachers, he likes traveling, snorkeling, dune-buggying, and athletics.

El Modena's Staff Assisted Faculty

Mrs. Marjorie Redic: Head librarian and curriculum lab coordinator... USC...fishing, backpacking ... bicycling...skiing...broken leg...a humanitarian... super-organized ... "I'll get it for you instantly!!"

El Modena High's library contained nearly 14,500 books, with an approximate circulation of six hundred check-outs per day. This included the use of records, tapes, films, pamphlets, and magazines. Twenty-six students were registered in library service for credit and experience.

Mrs. Redic, with Mrs. Marion Stone and Mrs. Delores Petty, helped students and teachers in the use of library facilities and curriculum lab.

Mrs. Joyce K. Gleitsmann: registered nurse from Bellvue School of Nursing in New York City...flying...swimming... put in her backyard swimming pool.

A thermometer and a white card welcomed all who entered the nurse's office. Minor wounds and illness found comfort in the first-aid expert. Besides caring for sick and injured students, Mrs. Gleitsmann and her aide, Mrs. Barbara Gogan, guided students seeking medical careers.

Senate, composed of campus club presidents; co-sponsored activities such as Swap Meet and "Pollution Solution Week." During April 10-24, they distributed information regarding ecology. As a Christmas project, boxes of clothing, food and toys were collected for Apache Indians in White River, Arizona.

Supreme Court primarily spent its third year at El Modena assisting the Constitution Committee in revision. Utilizing the power of Judicial Review, the 8 member court, under Chief Justice Scott Randolph, tried cases of A.S.B. and individual business. Students were required tofile a complaint brief with District Attorney Larry Adams, and the cases were heard during Wednesday meetings.

Ted Cornell reviews Constitutional changes.

The Constitution Committee, formed to review and rewrite parts of El Modena's constitution to work out inconsistancies, revised the document to meet the new requirements of the OUSD board. A high school constitution is a legal document that can be used in court, which is why the modernization was necessary. Members chosen from student government and student body volunteers divided into three separate groups: legislative, executive, judicial. Each branch presented ideas after discussion and research, and the committee then proposed issues to the student body. Constitution Committee: Ty Allison, Debby Carle, Ted Cornell, Stephanie Donchey, Greg Hostetler, Karen Metcalf, Jim Pike, Scott Randolph, Debbie Smith, John Taylor, Robin Wilkes, Scott Wiseman. Advisors: Mr. Richard Cook, Mr. Ted Reich, Mr. Loal Cole.

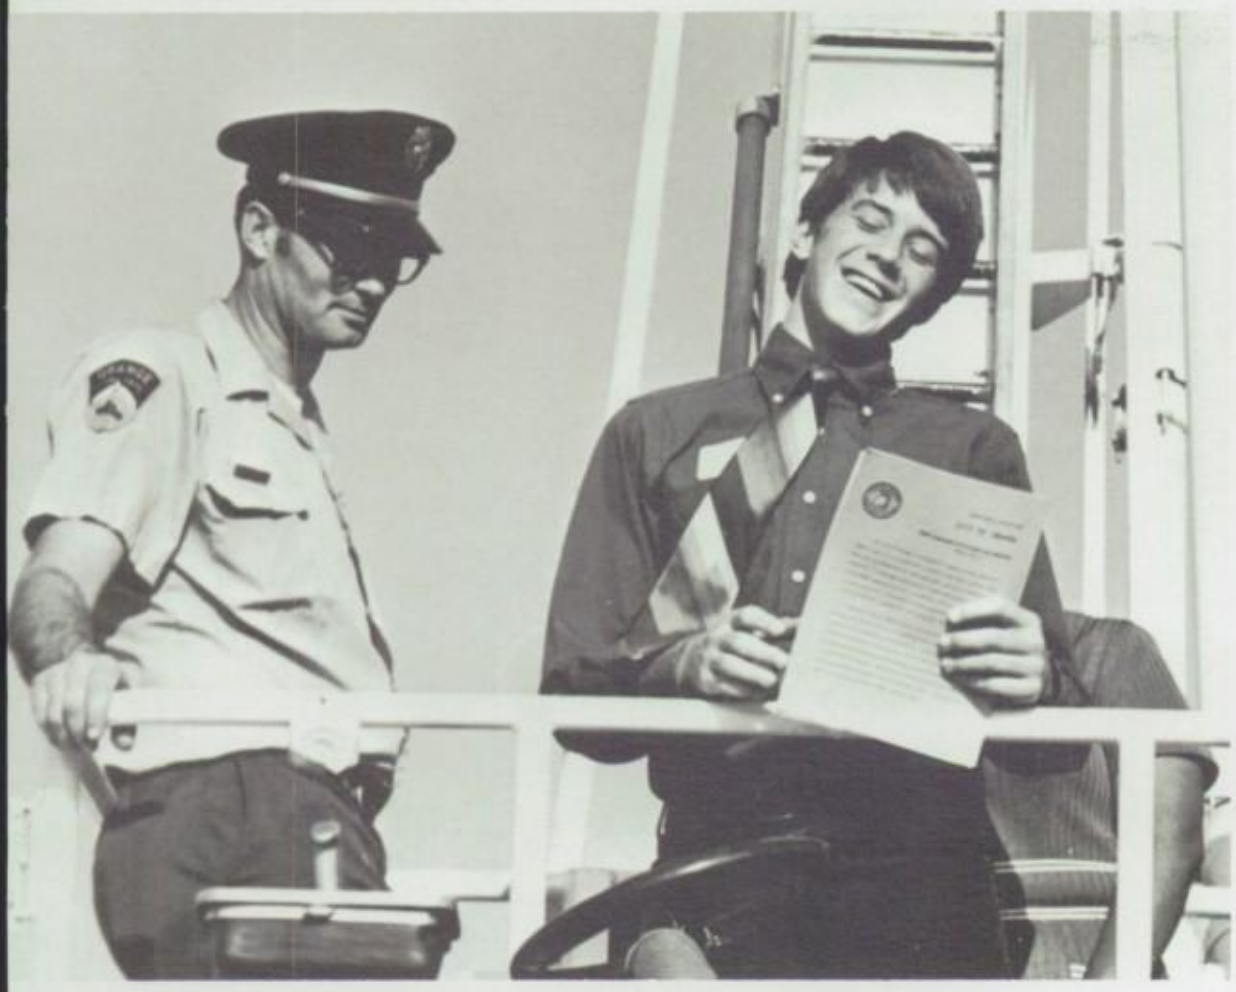
Students prepare to become "officials for the day" at Civic Center.

Youth In Government Day, October 26, 1970, was held at the Civic Center in Orange. Students from El Modena, along with the other district high schools, Villa Park and Orange, met to obtain a better understanding of the city government and officials. After a morning session of lectures on government, they were served a lunch hosted by the Elk's Club, and then continued on to the office or post of their counterpart.

Commissions Carried Out Cabinet Plans



John Taylor manages role of fire chief at Youth and Government Day.

El Modena had six commissions this year under the direction of Mr. Ted Reich, activity coordinator. Buildings and Grounds Commission, headed by Gary McClanahan, strove for a cleaner campus. Shauna Freidemann and the Foreign Exchange Commission were responsible for finding a home and new friends for Trond Lilleng, exchange student from Norway. To raise money, they held a pancake breakfast during the Swap Meet in March, and held a "skate-in" at Glacier Falls Ice Rink, February 18. The Student Sales Commission, led by Stan Wilbur, was responsible for the Student Store. The Student Activities Commission, solely comprised of Geoff Patterson and Fred Weaver, were responsible for setting up all ASB assemblies. Frances Nitta and the Publicity Commission undertook the massive job of publicizing every ASB event. Pep Commission, led by Sue Weakland, organized pep events.

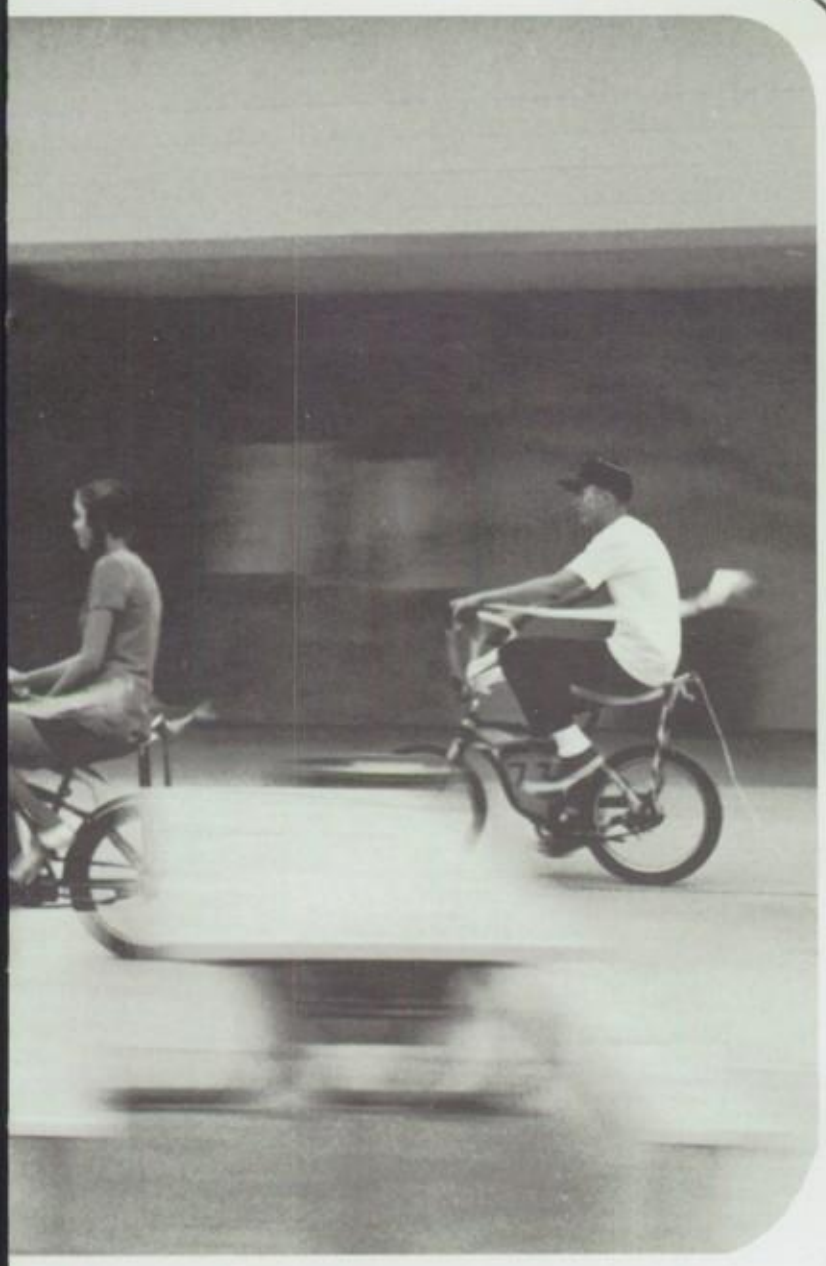
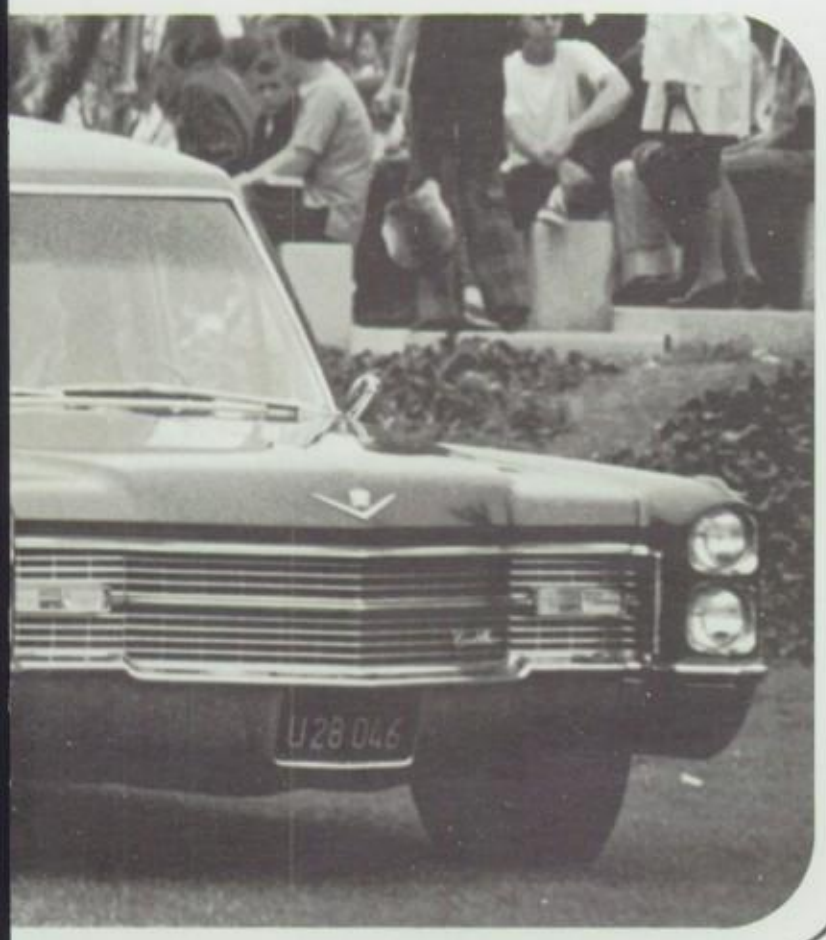
EM
74 is the





Underclassmen

Incoming Frosh bragged ' we're P.I.G.S.!' Pride, Integrity, Great Spirit... beginning four years at El Modena, '74 oriented themselves to high school life... Sophomores, becoming more involved, competed in drives and won... A.S.B. stickers, P.F.O. membership, spirit gun... new driver licenses were proud possessions of '73... Juniors experienced new feelings as upperclassmen... money-making campaigns for Prom spirit day hearse, PSAT tests... Class of '72 looked forward.

70-71 Freshman Class officers: left to right, Doug Van Riper, V.P., John Taylor, Pres., Jan Fried, Sec., Dean Thompson, Treas. As the largest incoming group in El Modena's five year history, the freshmen had 510 members. Their selected nickname was P.I.G.S., which stands for Pride, Integrity, and Great Spirit. This was an organizational year, where everyone got to know each other, in order to stand united for the coming three years together at El Modena. '74's advisors were Mr. Dennis Houser, faculty and Mrs. Peter Scherer, parent.

The juniors' main goal was to raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Newporter Inn on June 5th. They sponsored bottle and can collections, cotton candy and junk booths at Swap Meet, and door-to-door bake sales. With the coming of the yuletide season, candles were sold, and afterward, Christmas trees were hauled away. Junior advisors were Mr. Loal Cole, and Mrs. Harold Friedeman.

1955-1970

Time never ends
From the beginning
Of its never ending span . . .
So time goes on
In the way it has done
For it is the way.

Time is all
For all to endure . . .
Time is infinite . . .
Says the One
Who always will . . .

Such is the way
Of time.

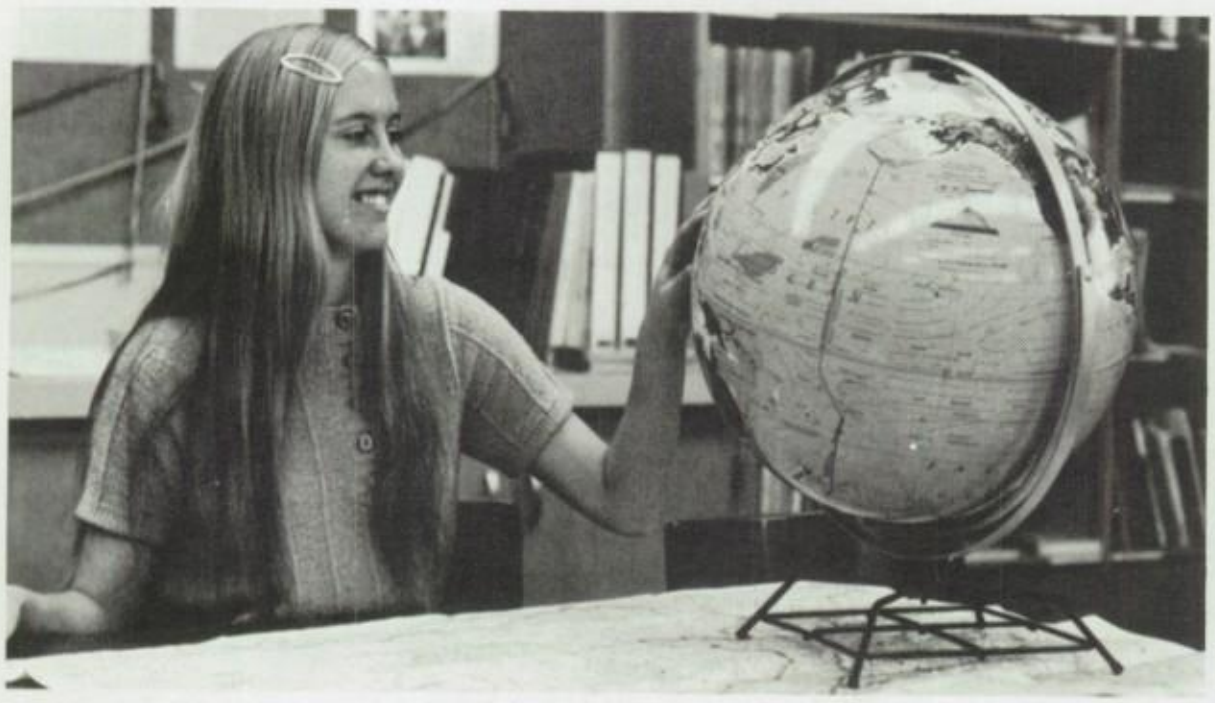
Seniors

M.A.S.H. '71...Mighty Associated Senior Honor... competed in Spirit Week...an all night poster party, T-shirts stenciled with MASH '71, cakes for the football players, a horse-drawn hay wagon, a special 'Seniors in the front!' cheer, '71 on the hill...they emerged victorious. Over five hundred dollars earned at Homecoming, a Vanguard statue, senior privileges, pictures, parties, announcements, Senior Week, Prom at the Newporter Inn, Graduation, Grad Night at Disneyland...Class of '71 enjoyed last year activities at 'ElMo.'

Bank of America Honored Fifteen Seniors



Debby Carle—Social Science Certificate

Marilyn Talley—English Certificate

Bank of America's state-wide program honored 15 El Modena seniors with awards for academic excellence, outstanding leadership, and promise of future success and service. Plaques were presented in four categories to Wendy Johnson—Vocational Arts, Stephanie Donchey—Liberal Arts, Jeanette Trudell—Math & Science, and Debbie Smith—Fine Arts. Certificates awarded to students selected from department nominees in respective subjects went to Debby Carle—Social Science, Marilyn Talley—English, Lee Thompson—Lab Science, John Kerns—Math, Karen Campbell—Home Economics, Wendy Ronk—Business, Donald Bodnar—Industrial Arts, Monica Shaw—Music, Janet Shaw—Drama (not pictured), Bob Heimstra—Art, and Bob Flowers—Foreign Language. These students became eligible for further competition for scholarships.

El Modena's 1971 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow was Gail Benne, chosen for her performance on a written examination, taken by senior girls on December 1, 1970. Gail received a special award and certificate from General Mills, sponsor of the program, and proceeded into national competition for a $5,000 educational grant.

Sometimes Being Alone on Saturday Gave

Us Strength to Face Monday's Pressures

Solitude, tranquility, serenity—rare moods in a crowded world. Most days teemed with emotion. Like sea birds, people soared from highs to lows, occasionally resting in a calm. Those calm moments—the minutes before sleep, a stolen reverie during a lecture, soothed the rough edges of tension. But sometimes... the beach was the only place to be you, alone...maybe with one friend.

People, Nature, All Life Beyond Classes

Learning...evolved from all impressions. The best teachers and finest books cannot create understanding if the individual has no desire to learn. Each birthday is a symbol of ever-increasing knowledge. Everyone grows to a maximum physical size—yet the mind is bounded only by experience with people, nature, powers beyond control. Some students learned by other people's experience—the rest of them were the other people. Nature power...evident from the minute perfection of a South American butterfly and abalone shell—to the awesome destruction of fire. Perhaps the most surprising to man is the realization that he alone must accept the responsibility for his own destiny.

'Big Game' Shivers, 8 A.M. 'Blahs'

Reluctant minds after a weekend of relaxation made Mondays seem endless. Mrs. Connie Bridgeman exemplified overburdened counselors (400 more students) while exasperated attendace clerk Mrs. Jan Lineberger tried to keep control. Students weary with preparation, often shocked with results, were thankful for Fridays and pep rallies that shortened classes. Even when football captain Jim Glitch was out of action for the season, voices grew louder. Max Ledesma, "workhorse" of the backfield, was injured. Cheerleaders shouted..."We're with ya team, so fight!" Spectators yelled..."gogogo!" Players cried..."We did it—CIF here we come!!" The gun sounded... another week ended.

—All Belonged to the 'Family of Man'

Faces...smiling, crying, laughing in crowds... Profiles of wonder, serenity, beauty, pride, wisdom, hope, happiness...of hurt, mockery, ridicule, shame, disappointment, sadness, a twist of pain, an instant of agony. All belong to the Family. Faces often told what words could never say.

Some tell of eternity—worth a long look now, deep contemplation later. No two alike, representing all races, groups, ages. El Modena faces were ladled from the "melting pot" of America. Scott Greer—"Each person is in some respects like no other man—like some other men—like all other men.'

When We Used Both Minds and Bodies

Creating and working with hands . . . asking and answering questions . . . recognizing and solving problems all increased ability and efficiency. Students learned by experimentation an- observation of life. oexperiences held different meanings for each person. The maturation process changed opinions. Physical Education trained bodies; other courses dealt in applying specialized skills. Out of class, experience instilled values—of time . . . money . . . progress . . . knowledge . . . fitness . . . morals . . . Numerous attempts—some people failed, some people succeed . . . some people gave up—Vanguards saw the Greek ideal of strong bodies and minds and the Renaissance man on campus.

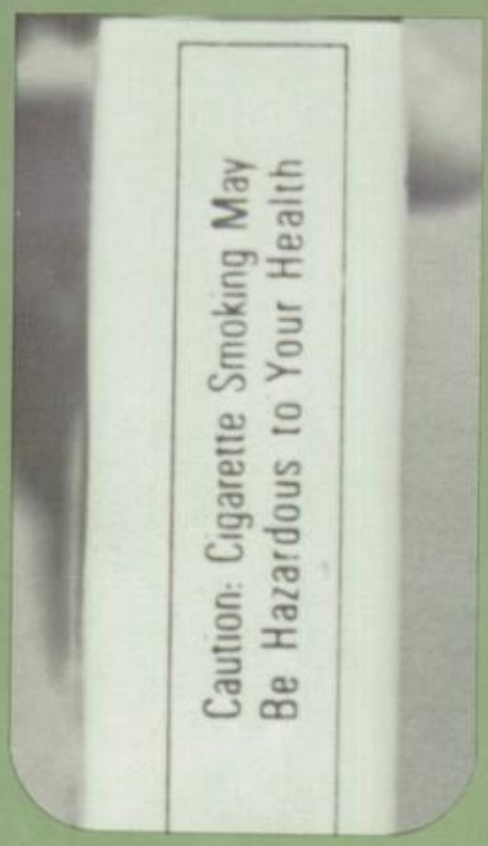
Tardies, Traffic, Trifles—

Problems mounted with stress—physical, mental. "Tardy?! But this should be excusable!! My $2 nylons—Everytime I cross my legs under the desk! Want a drag? No, I don't want cancer. "Wow! I expected trash on th beach but it's even all over school! There's something wrong when the sky's blue and the students think it looks fake. . .'



Growing Problems Multiplied With Time

Social responsibilities developed with age..."Hey—did ya know that Jim got busted Friday and...But officer, I was only doing 35...He will live...won't he?" Hospital volunteer work attracked numerous upperclassmen. Seeing others' problems gave many students a better perspective.

For 395 Seniors, Graduation Was Not

Cyndee Huber

Many graduations will be held at Fred Kelly Field. Mrs. Cathrine Lee will signal for many classes to rise in unison, but only this year was unique for the Class of '71. Although days at 'El Mo' ended for these graduates, their futures began. The Class of '75 started its cycle of sixteen seasons. Like life, El Modena will endure.

Really an End, but Only a Beginning

The life process.
The day to day realization
that we live,
and that life is all we have been given
Not a precious moment to be wasted
On prejudice and destruction;
for this life is a learning process
and for each vice conquered,
There is more, there is always more.
For each lesson learned is a rebirth into the glory of hope,
and the power of reason
in every truth lies,
an end, and a beginning.
